NATIONAL REPUBLICAN CONVENTION.

The Republican National Convention will meet in Chicago, Ill., on Tuesday, June 3d, 1884, at 12 o'clock noon, for the nomination of candidates to be supported for president and vice president at the next election. The republican electors of the several states, and all other voters, without regard to past political difference, who are in favor of the elevating and dignifying of American labor, extending and protecting home industry, giving free popular education of the masses of the people, securing free suffrage and an honest counting of ballots, effectually protecting all human rights in every section of our common country, and who desire to promote friendly feeling and permanent harmony throughout the land by securing a national government pledged to these objects and principles, are cordially invited to send for each state four delegates at large, and from each congressional district two delegates.

D. M. SABIN, Chairman.
JOHN A. MARTIN, Secretary.

The motion to "strike out" the democratic party will be carried this fall by a big majority.

All the tariff bill of the democrats in congress will go where the democrats are going this fall—up Salt river.

The banks and broker firms in New York are playing the very successful game of knocking each other down.

It is about time the bears on 'change should begin the report that there was a prospective failure of the wheat crop.

Mr. Blaine has demonstrated one point clearly—that it is more profitable to write an interesting history than to own a bank on Wall street.

Of this much the country is certain about Blaine, that he will never need a public subscription to keep him from becoming a public beggar.

It has come to this that a man weighing 96 pounds, who has only strength enough speak in a whisper, can wag the whole democratic party.

The democratic party will please remember that when it nominates Tilden, it should also nominate a coffin. The two seem inseparable.

It is no wonder Kentucky can give anywhere from 80,000 to 120,000 democratic majority. A southern paper, which seems to know Kentucky, says a breakfast in in that state consists of three stiff cocktails and a chew of tobacco.

Frank W. Smith, the popular lecturer before the grand army post, will visit Andersonville and hold services at the National cemetery on Decoration Day. He proposes to decorate the graves of the 13,701 soldiers buried there, and will place flags at the head of each.

Mrs. Cynthia Francis, mother-in-law of Abraham Morton, of Blooming Grove, in this state, died at that place on Tuesday, which was her 101st birthday. Her maiden name was Cynthia Chapman, and she was born in Hancock, Mass., May 14, 1783.

The three new bishops of the Methodist church, elected at Philadelphia on Thursday, are the Rev. Dr. W. X. Ninde, of the Detroit conference and president of the Garrett Biblical institute; the Rev. Dr. J. M. Walden, of the Western Book Concern, Cincinnati; and the well known C. H. Fowler, D. D.

The report comes from Rockford that on Tuesday, when the remains of Mike Connors were about to be lowered into the grave, his brother Tom tried to steal from the coffin the silver plate which the wife and her brother had purchased through many sacrifices. The wife protested against the outrage, and her brother promised to break Connors' head.

This is the condition of things in Chicago regarding hotel room during the convention: "Justice Harlan, of the United States court, arrived in Chicago yesterday. He failed to secure a room at a leading hotel for a month, and was informed by the clerk that he could hardly find accommodation in the city for the convention period. He at once caused a chamber set to be placed in the only vacant room in the custom-house, and will make himself at home in the $4,000,000 structure."

Senator John Sherman has made public the statement that his brother, General Sherman, will make a public declaration before the convention meets, reiterating his determination not to be a candidate. The senator is willing to trust the convention to make a wise selection. The senator says he does not rely for republican success upon democratic divisions. "I have known them for years," he says, "and never but once in a presidential fight were they divided, and then two conventions were held. They will be solid this fall."

Strange things will happen in the life of every man. One James Irving, who had been in the New York legislature for years, was not very particular as to how many dishonest things he did as a member. No one then thought of having him arrested for his infractions of the moral code, and so he went through year after year as a member of the legislature. But the other day he saw fit to give a saloonkeeper a good thrashing, for which he was sent to the penitentiary for two years and six months.

The so-called anti-monopolists, the socialists, the cranks, and the greenbackers (what a mess!) have held a convention in Chicago. Denis Kearney was not there, but several crankey women took his place. They adopted a series of resolutions which would well fit the sentiment of such a crowd. Ben Butler, who has become a representative of the class of political cranks and enthusiasts, was nominated for president. Of course he will accept as he wants a nomination for president, and the socialists and the greenbackers are the only ones that will confer that empty honor upon him.

General McDonald, who gained notoriety through the whisky frauds in St. Louis several years ago, and who had the noted "Sylph" for a paramour, comes to the surface again after a long silence. At one time he was the trusted friend of General Grant, who kept him in office several years. McDonald has now filed a protest with General Rosecrans, of the house committee on military affairs, against the passage of the bill to place General Grant on the retired list of the army. He charges General Grant with the responsibility of the recent failures in New York, and claims that he allowed his name to be used in a business so palpably fraudulent that any other firm in the country offering to pay investors 40 and 50 per cent a year would have been denounced as swindlers from the outset and the principals lodged in state prison

While to many the law seems to be an unforbidding profession for women there is a large increase in the number of female lawyers, and the recent admission to the bar of Mrs. Carrie B. Kilgore, of Philadelphia, shows that the bench and bar are beginning to show more appreciation of women than the medical profession of that city. When Judge Thayer, of the court of common pleas, admitted Mrs. Kilgore, he decided that the court had discretionary power as to the admission of women, the qualifications statutory being "honest in disposition" and "learned in the law;" the rest is left to the determination and discretion of the court, whatever might be said about the intention of the legislature which enacted the statute. The judge also held that the motion to admit Mrs. Kilgore was the "presentation of a new question, growing out of the opinions and practices of modern society," and that "when courts cannot solve such questions by reference to books or cases, they must decide them by that common sense of justice which is natural to man by that 'reason conformable to nature' of which Cicero the judge did not rest his view upon any basis of woman's rights, but he assumed that the revolution was over and the era of social change has been introduced, and that the courts must act under the new conditions."

CHURCH COUNCILS.

Electing Bishops at the M. E. Conference—The Presbyterians.

PHILADELPHIA, May 16.—As the order of the day, for 10 o'clock, was the election of bishops, there was an unusually large attendance. A motion to clear the aisles of visitors was withdrawn, as great opposition was expressed.

Rev. Dr. Hatfield, of the Rock River conference, offered a resolution, which was adopted, that the tellers and secretaries to conduct the election of bishops be instructed not to indicate to anyone the result of the ballot before the same is made known to the conference.

When Bishop Simpson appeared on the platform Rev. T. B. Neely, of the Philadelphia conference, offered a resolution that the conference reaffirms the doctrine of the fathers of the church; that the bishopric is not an order but an office for orders. A bishop is merely a Presbyterian elder. Neely said there were certain tendencies against which they ought to guard, asserting "Once a bishop, always a bishop. This now teaching of apostolic succession in Methodism he did not believe in.

Rev. Dr. Lanahan, of Baltimore, said the conference might as well reaffirm the doctrine of the fathers, that "The Methodist Episcopal church is still the Methodist Episcopal church," etc.

A motion to refer to the committee on Episcopacy was defeated, and the resolution adopted.

The first vote on the election of bishops was then taken, without result. The second ballot resulted in the election of Rev. W. X. Ninde, D. D., and Rev. J. M. Walden, D. D., the former receiving 372 votes, and the latter 214; necessary to choice, 404 votes.

Rev. Dr. W. X. Ninde is of the Detroit conference, and president of the Garrett Biblical institute. Rev. Dr. J. M. Walden is of the Western Book Concern, of Cincinnati. The third ballot resulted in the choice of Rev. Willard F. Mallalieu, D. D. A fourth ballot was then taken for the fourth bishop. The whole number of votes cast, 399; necessary to choice, 200; Rev. C. H. Fowler, D. D., received 174; Rev. J. H. Vincent, D. D., 174; Rev. H. A. Buttz, D. D., 21. There being no election, another ballot was taken. Rev. Dr. Trimble in a few moments came into the hall and stated that by some mistake the ballots had become mixed with others. A large number of delegates had left the hall, but those present insisted on another vote being taken, which was done, and was as follows: Whole number of votes cast, 386; necessary to choice, 194. Rev. C. H. Fowler, D. D., 212; Rev. J. H. Vincent, D. D., 135. Dr. Fowler was therefore elected. This completed the number of new bishops.

The Presbyterian General Assembly.

SARATOGA, N. Y., May 16.—The Presbyterian general assembly, north, met in the First Presbyterian church of Saratoga at 11 o'clock a. m. The church was densely packed. Rev. Dr. W. H. Roberts, of Princeton, announced the death of Rev. Dr. Edwin F. Hatfield, moderator of the last assembly, and stated that in accordance with the rules of the church the opening sermon would be preached by Rev. Dr. Henry Jessup, of the Presbytery of Lackawanna, moderator of the general assembly of 1879. The opening devotional services were conducted by Rev. Dr. Robinson, of Bloomington, Ills.; Rev. W. R. Terrett, of Saratoga, and Rev. Dr. A. J. Upson, of Auburn Theological seminary. Rev. Dr. Jessup then delivered the opening sermon. It was a resume of the history, progress, and prospects of the foreign missionary work of the church which Dr. Jessup has long been engaged in at Beyrout, Syria.

African M. E. Conference.

BALTIMORE, May 16.—At the African M. E. conference Prof. Mitchell reported upon the New Haven church troubles, and after some debate it was decided to send a bishop and two delegates to that city to arrange the matter. The report of the committee on education next came up and caused a great deal of discussion, which was still in progress at the adjournment.

Scene in the New York Legislature.

ALBANY, N. Y., May 16.—Mr. Taylor, of Kings county, rose to a question of privilege in the legislature, and charged that a certain member had stolen a bill with the intention of keeping it one day. Cries of "Name the bill-stealer" came from various quarters. In reply Mr. Taylor said the member was Mr. Coffey, of Kings. When the bill (a new assembly bill in which there is alleged to be some big job) was taken to the senate, Mr. Coffey, according to his fellow member, went to that house and obtained it through Senator Kiernan. When asked where it was, he replied that he would not return it for twenty-four hours. A committee of investigation was appointed.

A Hopeful Feeling at the Opening of Business on 'Change.

Dissipated at the Close by the Failure of a Prominent Firm.

Fisk & Hatch Send Consternation Abroad by Succumbing—The Metropolitan Open—Savings Banks Attacked—Echoes of the Panic.

NEW YORK, May 16.—The feverish excitement consequent upon the chapter of failures Wednesday had but little subsided over night, and Thursday morning found the streets in the neighborhood of the stock exchange even more crowded than on the day before. The fact that several houses were known to be in a shaky condition tended and the opening of the stock exchange was awaited with great anxiety. The announcement that the banks had agreed to pool their capital for their mutual protection was viewed as reassuring so far as the immediate interests of those institutions were concerned, but brokers as a rule professed to see little in this arrangement that would in any way relieve the pressure on the stock market.

By 9 o'clock Wall, Broad and New streets were almost impassable, and it was necessary to call out a large reserve of police to keep a passage way clear for pedestrians and others whose business took them to those streets.

AROUND THE METROPOLITAN

bank and in front of the suspended firms were crowds of anxious creditors clamoring for admission and vainly seeking information as to the affairs of each concern. The doors of the bank opened at 9:30, and the crowd cheered, evidently thinking it had resumed, and some of the depositors braced themselves for a rush, but they were repelled by the guardians of the peace, who politely but firmly informed them that they would not be allowed to enter. Subsequently a clerk appeared at the door and posted a note stating that President Seney had resigned and Vice President Jacques had been elected in his place and that business would be resumed at noon. The news spread like wildfire, and the belief began to grow that the worst was over.

When the stock exchange was finally opened there was as Wednesday, and in a few moments the large board-room was densely packed with brokers, the largest number probably ever gathered there at one time. Prices began to advance from the opening sale, while the pressure to sell showed a marked falling off. In the first few minutes prices jumped up almost as rapidly as they went down the day before, and the

FEELING BECAME MORE HOPEFUL.

It was plainly evident that strong hands had come to the support of the market. Business, however, had hardly got fairly under way when the ominous rapping of the gavel of the chairman of the board caused a rush in the direction of the rostrum. When order was restored, President Hatch said that he had just received notice from A. W. Dimock & Co. of their inability to meet their obligations. This announcement caused a temporary check to the upward movement, and many timid holders rushed to sell, causing some reactions, but the offerings were soon absorbed and prices again took an upward turn. In fact, with the exception of in the price of the Banker's & Merchant's telegraph stock, of which company Mr. Dimock is the head, the announcement of his suspension had but little effect. In ten minutes the stock of the telegraph company sold down from 119 to 45 with but limited transactions. About midday which was then loaning at the exorbitant rates of 1 to 2½ per cent. per diem in addition to the legal rate, began to make itself felt. The banks absolutely refused to advance money on any security whatever, which tended to make the situation more embarrassing, and a selling movement took place. This selling caused a reaction between noon and 1:30 p. m. of ¾ to 4½ per cent. After this hour the market was less active, but the tone steadily strengthened up to the last hour.

By 2 o'clock the greater part of the decline had been recovered, and matters just about began to look bright again when rumors were circulated of

of another house. The rumors had been in circulation but a short time when the names of the old and respected firm of Fisk & Hatch became coupled with them. These reports caused great consternation on the street and the comparative quietness which had prevailed in the board-room during the greater part of the afternoon gave place to which was greatly intensified when the rapping of the chairman's gavel was again heard, and the announcement of the failure of the firm officially made. There was a general scramble to sell, and the noise and excitement was almost as great as at any time during the panicky feeling of Wednesday. Prices went down at a rapid pace despite the efforts of some of the larger holders to steady the list, and the market closed in a feverish and semi-panicky state at a decline from the prices current at 2 o'clock of 1 to 3 per cent.

A feeling of great uncertainty has been caused by the failure of Fisk & Hatch, and predictions that other firms would follow.

Mr. A. S. Hatch, of the firm of Fisk & Hatch, is president of the stock exchange, and after the announcement of the suspension of his firm, Mr. William Lummis, of the firm of Lummis & Day, acted as president.

FISK & HATCH.

Mr. Hatch, in speaking of the suspension of the firm, said he could not yet give any particulars and did not know how they stood. An hour after the doors were closed, Mr. Hatch left the office in company with President King of the Union Trust company. A son of Mr. Hatch is quoted as saying that the suspension was wholly unexpected and was occasioned by the inability of the firm to obtain a loan of $4,000,000 on government bonds from a financial institution. The effect of this suspension seems to be more feared by bankers and brokers than that of any of the previous failures. It is thought that much stress will be laid upon the fact, which will become known all over the world, that the president of the New York stock exchange has failed. Mr. Hatch was re-elected as president last Tuesday. They were one of the few houses that paid up in full after their failure in 1873.

THEIR PERSONAL REPUTATIONS

are stated as unsurpassed. They were free from railroad complications, though interested in the Chesapeake & Ohio railroad, which was in good shape. After their failure in 1873, the firm obtained long extensions of time on their $8,000,000 liabilities, and by 1876 they got on their feet again. Since that time they have been the leading house of the country in government bond dealings. In the year 1881 they paid off the last of their indebtedness, four years before they were obliged to, and were reported to have a surplus of $700,000. Great sympathy is expressed on all sides for the suspended firm. A leading broker said: "The men who after the panic of 1873 worked hard and paid off 100 cents on the dollar, with interest, and have conducted an honorable and conservative business, deserve the sympathy of the whole community, and deserve to be able to re-establish themselves and their fortunes."

BANKERS' & MERCHANTS' TELEGRAPH.

At the office of the Bankers' & Merchants' Telegraph company the officers indignantly and emphatically denied the reports that the company was embarrassed by the suspension of the firm of A. W. Dimock & Co., and that the work of building new lines would have to be suspended for lack of funds. The officers stated that neither the finances of the company nor its operation had been affected by the failure of Mr. Dimock; that work on the underground Chicago wires now in course of construction would be pushed as vigorously as ever and the work on their eastern lines now being put up between New York and Portland, Me., extending through the cities of Boston, Lowell, Lynn and other intermediate points, would be continued. The treasurer of the company stated that the corporation had now on hand over $3,000,000 with which to push the work on its new lines.

At a meeting of the board of directors, held in the evening, Mr. A. W. Dimock tendered his resignation as president of the company, which the directors, by unanimous vote, refused to accept. An examination of the affairs of the company was made, and they were found to be in a perfectly sound condition.

CROWDING THE SAVINGS BANKS.

There was a run on the South Brooklyn Savings bank. The depositors are mostly poor and ignorant people, who were misled—as the bank is on Atlantic avenue—into supposing that it was the Atlantic bank which suspended Wednesday. The demands were promptly met. Father Francioli, of St. Peter's Catholic church, to which most of the depositors belong, went to the bank and addressed the crowd, begging them to go home and not lose six months' interest by drawing out their money. He said he would personally vouch for the soundness of the bank. His remarks, however, were not heeded by the excited crowd. Up to the closing of business $125,000 had been paid out. The cashier says there is a surplus of $700,000, and all applicants will be paid in full.

The Brooklyn Savings bank was also run upon, and paid out about $150,000. The officers count this a gain of $6,000 in interest. Nearly all the other savings banks in Brooklyn sustained slight runs.

A FEW FACTS.

An officer of the Metropolitan bank told a reporter that $185,000 was paid out during the day. The deposits amounted to $864,000 and checks for $451,000 were certified.

Russell Sage suspended payments on his privileges early in the day, demanding twenty-four hours' notice. It was said that he had plenty of ready cash to meet those obligations, but that he was taking advantage of higher rates for money and was lending it out. It is estimated that by selling his privileges on the basis of Thursday's prices he would lose from $800,000 to $1,500,000.

At the Windsor the opinions that were expressed upon the days developments were almost as various as the men who spoke, but the prevailing spirit seemed hopeful. All from Russell Sage down and up agreed that government bonds could not possibly suffer to any great extent. Doubt seemed to be entertained that Fisk & Hatch were irrevocably gone.

Money Matters at Other Points.

TROUBLE AT KANSAS CITY.

ST. LOUIS, May 16.—The Bank of Kansas City closed its doors Thursday. It had a capital of $600,000, and was the last to fall in the great panic of 1873. President Chick states that the suspension is due to the failure of Donnell, Lawson & Simpson, their New York correspondent. The bank had a surplus of $100,088, and after a meeting of the directors it was announced that the bank would pay 30 per cent. cash and the balance in certified checks. The amount of deposits is figured at $2,000,000. There was a run on the bank early in the morning which resulted in a panic among the depositors. The Merchants' National bank also issued certified checks to creditors. The Bank of Commerce was forced to post a notice that it would pay 20 per cent. cash, only.

There were very painful scenes in the crowd of laborers and small depositors that surrounded the Bank of Kansas City, and many women were observed in tears. There is no evidence of any trouble in the other banks of the city, and nearly all of the present institutions passed through the panic of 1873 with flying colors.

A QUINCY, ILLINOIS, BANK CLOSED.

QUINCY, Ill., May 16.—The Union bank, of this city failed to open its doors Thursday morning. When the Marine bank of New York failed, the Union bank transferred its account to the Metropolitan and the closing of the doors of that bank Wednesday are given as the cause of the suspension.

SOME NEW ENGLAND LOSSES.

NEW LONDON, Conn., May 16.—The losses here by the New York failures will probably amount to between $100,000 and $200,000.

NORWICH, Conn., May 16.—The losses by the New York failures on margins here will be all of $250,000.

Foreign Opinion.

LONDON, May 16.—The Times and The News think it doubtful that the crisis is yet reached in the New York panic. They do not think, however, that the panic will be as disastrous as that of 1873.

The Daily Telegraph regards the financial situation in New York with cheerfulness, and says everything will be straightened out in the course of a few weeks. It praises Secretary Folger's action.

The Standard takes a despondent view of the panic in New York. It believes the worst is to come, and cites the circumstances of the great crash of 1873. It points out that the effects of that disaster were felt for five years thereafter, and sees no reason to doubt that a similar period of depression would follow an equal shrinkage in values now. It approves the action of Secretary Folger in coming to the relief of the money market.

He failed to secure a room at a leading hotel for a month, and was informed by the clerk that he could hardly find accommodation in the city for the convention period. He at once caused a chamber set to be placed in the only vacant room in the custom-house, and will make himself at home in the $4,000,000 structure.

WHERE THE BATTLE RAGED.

Soldiers of Sixty-one Visit Virginia Fields of Carnage.

FREDERICKSBURG, Va., May 16.—The veterans' excursion of the First Army corps arrived here from Washington at 11 o'clock. Among the party were a large number of distinguished Federal generals, including Gens. Rosecrans, Hazen, Doubleday, Hunt and Slocum, many members of congress, and other invited guests. The authorities of the city gave the visitors a very hearty and hospitable welcome. After listening to an address of welcome by Mayor Sover, the party, joined by Gen. Longstreet and others who fought on the Confederate side, visited the battle-fields south of the city. Gens. Longstreet, Doubleday and others explained the positions and movements of the different commands in the bloody battles of '62-3.

Returning from the battle field, the party partook of a substantial collation at the opera house. Later in the day a visit was paid to Mary's heights, the scene of the terrible slaughter in December, 1862, and at night a reception was tendered to the visitors.

Shooting an Editor.

BURLINGTON, Iowa, May 16.—Henry Haefer attempted to shoot J. W. Murphy, editor of The Saturday Evening Post. Some time since an attempt was made to set fire to the restaurant of which Haefer was proprietor. Haefer subsequently disappeared, leaving a number of unpaid debts, and Murphy in his paper intimated (so Haefer alleges) that Haefer could tell about the incendiarism. Haefer has just returned and called on the editor for an explanation and was put out of the office. On reaching the foot of the stairs he turned and fired at Mr. Murphy who was standing at the head of the stairs, the ball missing its object and burying itself in the door-jam. Mr. Murphy swore out a warrant and Haefer was arrested. A subsequent consultation resulted in the warrant being withdrawn.

IN A FLAMING PRISON.

Almost a Holocaust in a New England Worsted Mill.

The Building on Fire and the Means of Egress Closed—Eleven Hurt and Two Reported Burned to Death.

WORCESTER, Mass., May 16.—A fire broke out in the Pakachong mills at 9 p. m. Three buildings with their stock and machinery were totally destroyed. Loss, $150,000. The mills were running night and day and a large number of girls were at work at the time. The doors and windows were all fastened, and they had great difficulty in escaping. Eleven were seriously injured and two are reported burned to death. Their remains have not been found.

The mills were located at South Worcester, near Holy Cross college, and were owned by George Crampton, and operated by Joseph Sargent, Jr., as agent. In less than an hour after the breaking out of the flames the three mills were in ruins. The mills were used for the manufacture of worsted yarns and brussels. Two were of brick and one wooden. They were fenced in true mill style fashion, with no egress or entrance except at regular hours and by permission of the watchman. The principal mill was three stories high. About sixty operatives, the majority of them females were employed, when the alarm sounded, and a scene of the wildest confusion ensued. The blaze was first discovered in the picker-room. The mill was lighted by electricity. The dynamo which generated the electric current for the light was run by a belt from the main shafting. This belt early caught fire, and, burning, shut off the source of light, plunging all the buildings in darkness except as they were lighted by the glare of the fire.

The entire fire department hastened to the scene to find that their services were only useful to save life and prevent the spreading of the flames. The watchman could not be found, and the doors, windows, and outer gates were locked. The men, women and children went to work with their picks and were obliged to break through the windows and leap to the ground from the second and third stories. Many were injured by jumping, and others had a narrow escape from the fire. Thomas Martin, 24 years old, did heroic service in saving women and girls. He discovered an exit and remained helping them out and carrying them to the yards until he was badly burnt and obliged to leave his place. He then rushed from the building and plunged into the stream running through the yard. He was rescued, and is in a critical condition.

A partial list of the wounded includes the following: Sarah and Mary Atkinson, each a leg or an arm broken; Patrick Stanton, sprains and bruises; Thomas Connors, arm broken; Alice Carberry, Mary Smidt, Minnie Sullivan. Mary Kirby and Alice Delaney more or less bruised and sprained. Bridget Sheehan and Kate Flynn were the most seriously injured, having received bruises about the back.

Proceedings in Congress.

WASHINGTON CITY, May 16.—In the senate, a message was received from the president recommending an appropriation to carry out the treaty with Mexico as to the boundary line. Cullom introduced a bill to prevent speculation by officers of national banks. Morgan offered a resolution directing the finance committee to investigate the national bank suspensions in New York, with leave to send for persons or papers. A bill was passed to aid the New Orleans exposition to the amount of $1,000,000. An adjournment till Monday was taken.

The house of representatives passed bills to authorize the construction of bridges over the Rio Grande at Eagle Pass and Laredo, and over the Missouri from Douglas county, Nebraska. When the diplomatic appropriation bill came up, Hitt moved to restore the salaries of the ministers to Austria and Italy to $12,000, but the motion was defeated.

Suicided Because He Was Cowhided.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., May 16.—Judge Richard Reid, of the superior court, suicided at noon, in the office of W. H. Holt, of Mt. Sterling. The cause of the deed was mental derangement, growing out of the cowhiding recently of the judge by a man named Corneilson. A friend of Judge Reid, from Carter county, says he met him on the cars recently, and they had a conversation about the cowhiding. Reid asked what the Carter county people thought. The gentleman replied that they thought they ought to have killed Corneilson, and the people were now against him. Reid hung his head, and said the matter had troubled him so much that he was afraid he would go insane. Evidently insanity has resulted as he feared. There is great sorrow here over the sad affair.

CASH DOWN.

A Young South Carolina Outlaw Settles His Account in His Boots.

Bogan Cash Meets the Officers at the Muzzle of a Winchester—An Ohio Mob Which Wants to See a Hanging.

COLUMBIA, S. C., May 16.—Bogan Cash, who has for some time been defying the officers who had warrants for his arrest for the crime detailed below, has met his death while resisting the officers. Sheriff Spofford made an unsuccessful attempt last week to arrest the young outlaw, and his failure caused Solicitor Newton to send peremptory orders to Spofford to turn over the warrant to Deputy E. S. King. Wednesday night Deputy King took a posse of men and proceeded to W. Bogan Cash's plantation, about nine miles south of Cheraw. He stationed two men between the barn and the house and two between the barn and the swamp. Deputy King had reliable information that Bogan Cash had slept in the barn or the house every night recently, and he therefore surrounded both buildings, giving orders to his men not to fire except in self-defense. One of Cash's friends managed to get to the barn and give him the alarm. At 4:30 in the morning Cash came out of the barn with a double-barreled shotgun and a Winchester rifle. As soon as he was ordered to halt he opened fire upon the posse, who returned it. Cash's body was literally riddled with Winchester bullets, but he continued firing after he was down, fighting to the death. Sam Lee, Cash's particular henchman (who was tried for murder a few years ago), was secreted under the house, from whence he fired on the posse, but was soon disabled by a bullet through the leg. He was arrested and committed to jail for trial. The only person in the arresting party who was hurt was W. H. Hilton, who had one finger shot off, the ball being turned aside by striking the barrel of his rifle, thus saving his life. The coroner's inquest has not yet been held.

As Col. Cash stood ready to sacrifice his life for his son Bogan, the tragic death of the latter will, it is believed, drive him to one of three things—viz., the loss of his life in an attempt at revenge, suicide, or the insane asylum. James Coward, who was mortally wounded by Bogan Cash at the time he killed Town Marshal Richards, still survives, but is a helpless paralytic and may die at any moment.

On Saturday, Feb. 21, W. B. Cash, a son and accomplice of E. B. C. Cash in the death of William Shannon in a duel, rode into the town of Cheraw and became drunk and boisterous. Marshal Richards, after vainly attempting to quiet Cash, attempted to arrest him, and freely used a club on Cash's head and arms. Cash, who is seven feet high and very stout, overpowered the marshal and kicked him about the face and head, and left town. On the 23d Cash returned to Cheraw, and, after sauntering about awhile, saw Marshal Richards sitting on a dry-goods box. Cash walked a few paces, when he wheeled and fired three shots at Richards from a 38-caliber revolver. The first shot went through the lungs of a bystander named James Coward, mortally wounding him. The second penetrated the lungs of Richards, and he was dying at 6 a. m. The third shot missed its aim. In the intense excitement which followed, Cash ran to his horse, mounted, and fled. A large posse went in pursuit. The fugitive was pursued to the house of his father, E. B. C. Cash, twenty-eight miles from the scene of the tragedy, where father and son barricaded themselves in their house. They were well armed and defied the officers of the law.

Bound to See the Hanging.

ASHLAND, Ohio, May 16.—The greatest excitement known for years in northern Ohio is raging at Ashland over the efforts of a mob to take possession of the jail, where William Horn and William Henry Gribbon, convicted of one of the most atrocious murders in the history of Ashland county, are to be hanged. The town at night was the scene of the wildest excitement. The whole of the Fourteenth regiment, O. N. G., and nearly all the Eighth, altogether fourteen companies of troops, were under arms in camp about the jail. Sheriff Gates received in the afternoon 300 muskets and thirteen cases of ammunition for the use of the deputies. Every train into town was loaded with excited men. It is estimated that more than 1,000 will be on hand and attack the jail. Troops will form four deep about it with definite orders. Great bloodshed is feared if the desperate mob carries out its threat, which now seems probable. The mob insists on lynching the men or in making the execution public. The authorities had ordered a private execution, and this the maddened populace is determined shall not be.

The Difficulties at Stillwater, Minn.

STILLWATER, Minn., May 16.—Receiver Brown, of the car company, obtained money to make the usual monthly payment to the employes, and that made everything smooth and tranquil here. St. Paul banks supplied him quite liberally, and the Stillwater banks furnished the remainder. Mr. Brown says the works will proceed without interruption. He did not even shut down to take an invoice, as was intended, it being deemed advisable to keep the works in operation without cessation. This policy has restored confidence here, and no further bank runs or other financial disturbance are anticipated.

The St. Croix Land & Lumber company, which made an assignment at Hudson, Wis., should not be confounded with the St. Croix Lumber company, of Stillwater, which has not failed and will not. The Land & Lumber company is an institution of Senator Sabin's, which owns 36,000 acres of hard wood, five miles of railroad, a large saw-mill, etc. In view of Mr. Sabin's other embarrassments the company has assigned.

Cheap Rates to New Orleans.

WASHINGTON CITY, May 16.—From statements made before the senate committee on appropriation it appears that excursion rates of 1 cent per mile to the New Orleans cotton exposition have been agreed upon by 160 railroads. This will make the rates about as follows: From St. Louis, $7; Winnipeg, $17; St. Paul, $13; Detroit, $11; Chicago, $9; Cincinnati, $8; Louisville, $7. There are proportionately low rates from points adjacent to New Orleans. Director General Burke estimates that the receipts of the exposition from New Orleans and the ten adjoining states will more than repay the loan made by congress.

Fatal Explosion.

HARRISBURG, Pa., May 16.—By an explosion of a steam-pipe in furnaces Nos. 2 and 3, of the Philadelphia Steel works at Steelton, William Pierce was scalded so badly that he will die. George Murray was scalded badly about the head and face, and injured his back by jumping a distance of twenty feet in order to escape the steam. He will probably recover. Four other men named Smith, Jurgnie, Walker and Garrity were less seriously injured. The pipes were two feet in diameter and the explosion resembled that of a boiler.

We Represent THIRTY SOUND COMPANIES, being the largest agency in the Northwest. Among our companies are The Oldest, the Strongest in America, England, or in the World. They are truly TIME TRIED AND FIRE TESTED. Many of these Companies have been through all the terrible conflagrations of the last FIFTY OR ONE HUNDRED YEARS—the great fires of London, of New York, of Portland, of St. Louis, of St. Johns, of Boston and Chicago, and have always paid one hundred cents on the dollar and are now as SOLID AS THE ROCKS, after paying millions upon millions to their patrons. Between three and four hundred Insurance Companies in this country have gone to the wall—either failed outright or re-insured their risks and retired from the field since 1870, and more of the weaklings will go year by year. The one hundred millions of dollars annually destroyed by fire in this country is sure to bankrupt them. Our rates are as low as other responsible companies. The Rev. J. E. Searles, of New York, is one of the most widely-known and highly esteemed of Methodist ministers.

Mr. Searles says: "I am impressed that it is a duty I owe to those afflicted with Rheumatism or Neuralgia, to say that a remedy has been discovered that is indeed a marvelous success. My son was greatly afflicted with Rheumatism, and suffered so severely that, at times, he was obliged to have morphine injected into his arm to get relief. While in this condition he discovered a remedy which effected immediate relief, and a permanent cure. He has since furnished it to many others with the same result. I have also furnished it to a number of persons suffering with Rheumatism, and the result has been immediate relief, and a permanent cure. Among others, I gave it to Rev. Wm. P. Corbit, pastor of the George St. M. E. Church, New Haven, Conn., who was suffering greatly with this terrible disease. I will give you his own words as written to my son, wishing him to publish the fact for the benefit of others suffering with the same disease."

What Mr. Corbit Says:

"New Haven, July 24, 1883.

"Mr. Searles: Dear Sir:—I wish to say for the benefit of all who are suffering with Inflammatory Rheumatism, that your medicine is infallible. I suffered for two months the most excruciating torture; lost 25 pounds of flesh, and was not out of my house for a month; I heard of your remedy, and was almost instantly relieved by it. If there is a specific for all cases of any kind, yours most certainly is for Inflammatory Rheumatism in its severest form.

"Yours most respectfully, WM. P. CORBIT,

"Pastor George St. M. E. Church, New Haven, Conn."

was the first preparation perfectly adapted to cure diseases of the scalp, and the first successful restorer of faded or gray hair to its natural color, growth, and youthful beauty. It has had many imitators, but none have so fully met all the requirements needful for the proper treatment of the hair and scalp. HALL'S HAIR RENEWER has steadily grown in favor, and spread its fame and usefulness to every quarter of the globe. Its unparalleled success can be attributed to but one cause: the entire fulfilment of its promises.

The proprietors have often been surprised at the receipt of orders from remote countries, where they had never made an effort for its introduction.

The use for a short time of HALL'S HAIR RENEWER wonderfully improves the personal appearance. It cleanses the scalp from all impurities, cures all humors, fever, and dryness, and thus prevents baldness. It stimulates the weakened glands, and enables them to push forward a new and vigorous growth. The effects of this article are not transient, like those of alcoholic preparations, but remain a long time, which makes its use a matter of economy.

BUCKINGHAM'S DYE

This could not be the case if it were merely "gotten up to sell," or had any dubious or dangerous ingredients in it. Among millions of users of all nationalities, surely some one would find out if it were impure, injurious or unpalatable. For 18 years this tobacco has been acknowledged to be the best in the world, and every year the Bull Durham brand grows more popular, the demand for it wider, and smokers more enthusiastic over its delicious natural flavor. Ask your dealer for it. Get the genuine—trade-mark of the Bull.

A HUNDRED MILLIONS.

Jay Gould the Second Richest Man of the United States.

Shares, Bonds and Mortgages—Parlor, Conservatory and Office—Good Taste, Simple Habits, and Unpretentiousness.

[New York Journal.]

Mr. Jay Gould, the second richest man of the United States, is credited with being the possessor of wealth estimated all the way from $50,000,000 to $75,000,000. The former sum is very nearly correct. Were his railroad stocks worth their par value he would be a hundred-millionaire. Just before starting on his yachting trip to the Spanish main he carefully inventoried his property, placed his affairs in good shape, and added a codicil to his will.

In round numbers the permanent investment stocks appearing on Mr. Gould's schedule were 330,000 shares of Western Union telegraph, 110,000 shares of Missouri Pacific, 140,000 shares of Wabash common and 60,000 shares of preferred, 50,000 shares of Kansas & Texas, 40,000 shares of Texas Pacific, and 70,000 shares of Erie. There was a large number of small lots of various stocks apparently only incidentally held. No mention of Union Pacific is made, and a friend of Mr. Gould states that instead of holding any he is short some 9,000 shares on which he expects to make a profit. Fifteen thousand shares are registered on the company's books in his name. On the Vanderbilt stocks, New York Central, Lake Shore & Northwest, he is said to be short in all 20,000 shares.

AND SOMETHING BESIDES.

Besides his railroad shares Mr. Gould holds five and a half millions of Wabash general bonds. At yesterday's prices the value of these securities is $49,495,000. Western Union and Missouri Pacific pay dividends, the other stocks do not. The bonds all bear interest. Between them they yield him $4,140,000 a year. His interest in the Union Trust company and his loans are profitable to him. The World building, nominally owned by the Western Union company, was built with his money. In real estate, loans and mortgages he has $5,000,000, and $5,000,000 more in floating investments. His two residences represent another $1,000,000, and his yacht $500,000. His wealth, as nearly as he can figure it, is $58,79[illegible],4[illegible]5, and his income $4,040,011. Thus his fortune earns him $12,888.88 every day, and $8.95 each minute. To this he expects to add a great many millions a year by speculation.

AT HOME.

The king of Wall street resides when in the city at 579 Fifth avenue, a plain brown-stone mansion on the opposite side of Forty-seventh street from Windsor hotel. He paid $300,000 for the property, and spent as much more in furnishing and ornamenting its interior. The visitor on entering finds himself in a large hall adorned with valuable paintings and a few articles of bric-a-brac. To the left are spacious parlors richly furnished, the prevailing color being a warm brown. Throughout the house modest good taste prevails. There is no sign of extravagance or display of great wealth. Here Mr. Gould resides during the winter.

On the approach of summer he flies to his country seat near Irvington. This is his favorite home. An old Knickerbocker mansion, surmounted by a tower, he has taxed his ingenuity to make it beautiful. Improving and draining the grounds have been his hobby. The whole eighty acres bloom like a garden. A wide drive leads through them to the house. The doors open into a large reception room with mosaic floor. This is hung with rare paintings and fragrant with flowers. The parlors are models of graceful elegance, having cost over $100,000 to furnish.

FRUITS AND FLOWERS.

But the owner's chief pride are the conservatories. When they were burned some years ago they were rebuilt in grander style, and are now the largest in the country and among the largest private conservatories in the world. Tropical flowers and fruits bloom and bear throughout the year. Peaches, oranges, pears, grapes and strawberries can be plucked while all without is snow-clad. There are 12,000 varieties of plants and more varieties of orchids than at any other place in the world. The superintendent of the conservatory is an Italian enthusiast. Mr. Gould spends hours walking among this luxuriant vegetation and knows the names and peculiarities of nearly all of his treasures. Here he receives many visitors. Ex-Governor Tilden is a frequent caller at the summer residence.

The great financier is domestic in his habits and simple in his tastes. He neither drinks nor smokes, although his cellars contain a good store of choice wines. He does not care for horses. His box at the opera sees him occasionally, but generally he spends his evenings at home with his family.

BUSINESS HOURS.

Every day at about 10 o'clock a carriage drives up to the Western Union building, at 195 Broadway. From it alights the little black-bearded man. There he leaves his negro valet and enters his office. The heads of his principal enterprises, the Western Union, Wabash and Missouri Pacific companies, report to him. He examines carefully every new detail of importance. When this is done he leaves the building and walks quickly down the right hand of the street to his Wall street office, where at 71 Broadway the plain sign "W. E. Connor & Co." appears. It is noon when he reaches it. His private office, behind the formidable barriers of walnut and ground glass, is within, on the Broadway side. It is a small compartment, and on the door in small letters is the name "J. Gould." Two desks, a few plain chairs and a blackboard on which Mr. Morosini has previously chalked the dates of the important meetings which he must watch or attend complete the furnishing of the room. Connor, Morosini and his son George consult with him. At 3 o'clock his carriage is at the door.

DRESS AND JEWELRY.

In dress the fifty-millionaire is unpretentious. Winter and summer he wears a black or blue-black diagonal business suit with a cutaway coat. His collar is of the turn-down variety and his tie of plain black. His silk hat is often almost shabby. Once in a while he appears in a felt hat. Then the street looks out for a tempest. Always well made and correctly fitting, Mr. Gould may be said to be well dressed. Cooper was formerly his tailor, but lately he has favored several artists. He usually has five or six suits of clothes on hand, all very similar and hardly distinguishable. A former outfitter of the financier says that he is very careless about the details of his apparel, but sometimes grumbled at the cost of fabrics which he would say was more than he could afford. Generally he would send over his order by a servant with directions to make him a suit of about the same same style and material as his last and from the same measure.

In the matter of jewelry Mr. Gould is still more modest. He carries a handsome gold watch of Swiss make. The chased hunting-case is somewhat worn. A small gold chain is attached to it. Although he has a pair of costly diamond studs they are rarely seen.

NOTES.

In conversation the great man speaks with careful deliberation, weighing each word before it is uttered. His language is well chosen and choice, and he displays a knowledge on subjects trivial as well as abstruse which surprises his auditors. He is thoroughly well-posted on everything which can in any way concern him. He is a practical railroad man, a financier and in his way a philosopher.

The Atalanta, the yacht in which he is now traveling southern seas, is too well known for description. It is the fastest and most elegant steam-yacht owned in America and represents an outlay of nearly $400,000.

In no way is Mr. Gould's mode of life expensive. It cost him, until he purchased his yacht, under $100,000 a year to live. This year he calculates it will cost him half as much more. He seldom entertains a guest in the city and gives no receptions. While he does not stint his household, his butler is held accountable for every outlay and must keep the cost of his department within a limit.

It is worthy of note that in 1873, when fortunes were melting like snow and disaster was sapping the roots of every financial institution, Mr. Gould's affairs were in such a shape that, while conversing at his residence on business matters with a well-known broker he fainted away from emotion.

ABOARD FOR MEXICO!

A Trip on the Newly Completed International Railroad.

Popular Errors Corrected—Along the Plateau Route—Barren Tracts and Grazing Regions—Important Cities.

[Chicago Times.]

The completion of railway communication to the capital of Mexico is an event worthy of celebration. The gap between the northern and southern sections of the great Mexican Central line is now closed, and an unbroken track unites the City of Mexico with the city of Chicago—the oldest with the youngest of the great cities on the western hemisphere. A few weeks hence, when the operating arrangements shall have been perfected, the traveler will be able to leave Chicago Monday morning and on the following Sunday emerge from his hotel in the beautiful calle del Cinco de Mayo to look upon the famous "halls of the Montezumas"—if he can discover any vestiges of them, which is very doubtful.

By co-operative arrangements three great lines will form one continuous line from Chicago to the Mexican capital—a total distance of 3,000 miles. From Chicago to Kansas City, about 600 miles, the train will traverse the line of the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy; from Kansas City to El Paso, about 1,200 miles, by the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe line, and from El Paso to Mexico, about 1,200 miles, by the Mexican Central line. Altogether, the western hemisphere contains no more interesting line of travel—none so interesting on account of the various lands, zones, climates, altitudes, and peoples that it traverses.

For Americans as well as for Mexicans, the opening of the Mexican portion of this great international line is the beginning of a new epoch and a new experience. What sort of country is Mexico? What manner of land is it that, though separated from us only by a shallow river, has so long been an ultima thule, known to the bulk of Americans only by the accounts they have read of its seeming perennial revolutions, yet now is brought as near and made as easily accessible as the Pacific section of our own land?

GROSS ERRORS CORRECTED.

In the average American mind, some grossly erroneous opinions prevail concerning it. As more than half of Mexico lies within the so-called torrid zone, it is popularly imagined to be a land of torrid heat; and as its people speak a language of which (though it is spoken by about one-half of all the people on this hemisphere) the bulk of Americans are peculiarly ignorant, there is a popular American idea that it is a land of some sort heathenish. Both are gross errors.

The Mexican Central railway, in the whole length of its main line, traverses the great central plateau that comprises more than three-fourths of all Mexico, and upon which nine-tenths of the population of the country is found. Everywhere upon that plateau the climate is much the same as is found in somewhat lower altitudes in New Mexico, afflicting humanity with neither the intense heat of summer nor the rigorous cold of winter that reign alternately in the Mississippi valley. This is owing partly to the situation of the country between two great oceans, giving to it the character of an oceanic rather than a continental climate, but chiefly to its high elevation. The climatic difference between the low-lying tierras calientes of the sea-coasts and the great central plateau, though separated only by the slope of a mountain side, is the difference between the shores of the Amazon and the shores of Lake Michigan in midsummer.

THE PLATEAU ROUTE.

What may be called the plateau route from Chicago to Mexico nowhere penetrates the hot region. Crossing the southeastern corner of Colorado, it rises in the Raton pass, to an elevation of 8,000 feet at the boundary line of New Mexico, and between that point and the Mexican capital nowhere descends to an elevation so low as 3,000 feet above the sea. At the Mexican boundary, where the line crosses the Bravo, the elevation is about 3,400 feet; at only one point between there and Mexico City does it touch a lower altitude. The average altitude of the line in Mexico is rather over than under 5,000 feet. The highest point on the line is at or near the city of Zacatecas. At that city, though it is within the line of the torrid zone, the traveler, in winter, should not be surprised to see the ground lightly covered with snow. And in the City of Mexico, whose altitude is between 7,000 and 8,000 feet, frosty mornings in winter are more common than sultry days in summer, when the mercury seldom marks above 85 degrees Fahrenheit.

THE GRAZING COUNTRY.

The country traversed by the northern half of the road is comparatively unsettled, towns being "few and far between." Some superficial observers have sweepingly called it a barren desert; but this is not the fact. The road passes through only three absolutely barren tracts. The first and largest is entered a few miles beyond the Bravo and extends nearly half way to the city of Chihuahua, or about eighty miles. Then the journey gradually emerges into a fair grazing country, that grows better as the train advances, and nowhere lacks anything but an adequate supply of water to fit it for all the purposes of agriculture. The railway-builders had little difficulty in finding water at a comparatively small depth.

This grazing region stretches southward into the state of Durango, where, around Mapimi, a smaller desert is crossed, and the road emerges into the remarkably fertile laguna region, amply watered by a number of large streams, that lose themselves in isolated lakes. Entering the state of Zacatecas, an absolute desert of bare gravel, twenty or thirty miles wide, is crossed; but from its southern border, some miles north of Fresnillo, to the Mexican capital, the road traverses a populous country of great and uniform fertility, whose character may be inferred from the fact that the local traffic of the southern part of the line has, from the beginning, shown a satisfactory balance on the earnings side of the company's balance-sheet.

CITIES ON THE LINE.

A number of the most important and interesting cities in Mexico are on the line of this road. Chihuahua, a beautiful town of 25,000 people, is awakening from a sleep of a couple of centuries into a new and modern life. Durango (about 30,000), with its interesting iron mountain, owned by some enterprising Chicago gentlemen, will be reached by a branch road that is not yet built. Zacatecas is a picturesque city of 60,000, "whose streets seem more busy," says a recent letter, "than those of any place I have yet seen in the republic. * * * The public and private buildings of Zacatecas are more substantial and ornamental than those of any mining city in America." Aguas Calientes (hot waters), with a population of 35,000, is the point where the Central company's line from Tampico to Mazatlan intersects the main line, thus making it a very important railway center. Some of the principal railway offices are already established here. Lagos, in Jalisco, is a town of 20,000 inhabitants. Leon, "the Manchester of Mexico," has over 80,000, and Guanajuato (capital of the province of that name) 70,000. Celaya, in the same province, contains 30,000, and Toluca (capital of the province called Mexico) 11,000. The population of the City of Mexico is about 350,000, and of the so-called federal district (having an area of 1,200 square kilometers) 439,769.

Going in Search of Greely.

WASHINGTON CITY, May 16.—Lieut. William H. Emory, commander of the steamer Bear, the advance vessel of the Greely relief fleet, has made a report by mail to Secretary Chandler from St. John, under date of May 3, in which he states that a number of well equipped, officered and manned whalers and sealers have left St. Johns and Dundee, in hopes of securing the reward for the relief of Greely. Lieut. Emory regards the condition of the ice as very favorable.

Directors Elected.

BOSTON, May 16.—At the annual meeting of the stockholders of the Atlantic & Pacific Railroad company, held here, directors were chosen as follows: Jesse Seligman, C. P. Huntington, E. F. Winslow, W. F. Buckley and Bryce Gray, of New York; H. S. Nutt, W. B. Strong, A. E. Touzalin, J. T. Burr, A. W. Nickerson, B. P. Cheney and S. C. Wade, of Boston. Jay Gould was a director last year, but at this meeting his name was omitted.

The Louisiana Senatorship.

NEW ORLEANS, May 16.—The Democratic legislative caucus has nominated Hon. J. B. Eustis for United States senator, to succeed Senator Jonas, the present incumbent, who was Eustis' principal opponent. The contest was spirited, the vote standing Eustis, 58; Jonas, 53; Manning, 4. Judge Eustis has already served in the senate, having been succeeded by the man whom he in turn now supplants.

Butler Delegates Elected.

CHESTER, Mass., May 16.—The Democrats of the Twelfth district chose J. F. Cullanan and E. M. Learned delegates to Chicago. Both are for Butler.

BOSTON, May 16.—The Sixth district Democrats chose Patrick J. Donovan and Alfred A. Mower, delegates to Chicago. They are uninstructed, but are for Butler.

Unlike a Woman.

[Boston Globe.]

It is almost a rarity to see a man go along the street with his arms fettered with bundles; it is almost an equal rarity to see a woman entirely free from them. Hence a walk usually invigorates a man and fatigues a woman. The main difference is in pockets. Every possible nook and corner of a man's suit that can be so utilized has a neat, safe, substantial pocket in it. He puts his watch, his money, his handkerchief, his knife and all other little personal conveniences safely away in these; he has no further concern for their safety. He is not constantly asking: "Did I lay down my purse here?" or "Have you seen my handkerchief?" His clothes are organized just like his work.

How to Shorten Life.

The receipt is simple. You have only to take a violent cold, and neglect it. Abernethy, the great English surgeon, asked a lady who told him she only had a cough: "What would you have? The plague." Beware of "only coughs." The worst cases can, however, be cured by DR. WM. HALL'S BALSAM for the LUNGS. In Whooping Cough and Croup it immediately allays irritation, and is sure to prevent a fatal termination of the disease. Sold by druggists.

Chronic Diseases.

A Special Study for Years.

Dr. F. B. BREWER

Has made Chronic Diseases of the

Throat, Lungs, Heart, Stomach Liver, Kidneys, Nerves and Blood

A special treatment for years. He is not a boastful, ignorant pretender, but an educated physician, seeking to do good, by devoting his talent and energies to the treatment of a class of maladies that have been with him a long and patient study. To be able to treat successfully chronic diseases it requires that a physician should be a sound, thorough scholar in the art of science and medicine generally. He should give his entire time to their study, be thorough in his investigations and have a long and varied experience. Dr. Brewer claims to work no wonders or to do any more than any well educated physician can do, who devotes his whole time to the study and treatment of chronic diseases exclusively, and has had his many years of experience. For years Dr. Brewer has visited the the places he now visits, and has obtained his reputation by being honest in his dealings candid in opinions and reasonable in his charges. Those who are afflicted are invited to call, investigate and decide for themselves. It will cost nothing to do so. Address all letters to —A load of live wild pigeons were brought into the city this morning, the first of the season.

—The thermometer indicated 30 degrees above zero at four o'clock this morning—cold enough for a solid freeze.

—The unsettled condition of the stock market in New York has caused a marked decline in the grain and provision markets.

—An adjourned meeting of the Janesville Anti-Horse Thief Association will be held in the court house this evening at 7:30 o'clock.

—Adjutant General Chandler P. Chapman, of the Wisconsin National Guard, will be in the city this evening, for the purpose of making the annual inspection of the Janesville Guards.

—Remember the meeting at G. A. R. headquarters this evening, for the purpose of making arrangements for the proper observance of Memorial Day. The attendance of ladies is particularly desired.

—C. Sheldon, Esq., of West Salem, this state, has purchased from John Griffeths the "Wilcox filly," sired by McKinney, formerly Bowles' Almont. The filly has considerable speed, and sold at a good price.

—A free-for-all pigeon shoot is in progress this afternoon at the farm of Mr. H. S. Woodruff in the first ward. Some four hundred wild pigeons will be the targets for the young Nimrods, and we sincerely hope the marksmanship will be an improvement on the turkey shoot last winter.

—A farmer came into the city this morning with a heavy load of grain, and just as he was turning to drive upon the city scales, opposite Stearns & Bakers drug store, the tire of one of the front wheels dropped off and the wheel fell in pieces, letting the wagon down. The broken wheel was soon replaced.

—The Beloit Free Press—To-day is the monthly pay day at the Morrill & Houston Iron Works, and the full amount of the pay roll, nearly $4,700 was checked out to the workmen.——The city marshal has made careful inquiry to learn, if possible, the parentage of the little passenger waif found Tuesday night, but has obtained no clue.

—Conductor Eugene Rich, who was compelled to leave his train and return home on Wednesday on account of being taken suddenly ill, took his wife and went down to Afton this morning on a fishing excursion. He will resume his run to-morrow morning. Conductor George Deiter took Mr. Rich's place on the accomodation train.

—The horse thieves appear to be reaping a harvest in northern Illinois at this time. This morning Marshal Hogan received notices through the postoffice that six horses had been stolen in the northern part of that state recently, one span from Napierville, for which a reward of five hundred dollars is offered for the capture of the team and thief.

—There was a little "scrap" on Milwaukee street bridge this forenoon. A young man named Sam'l Milford, driving over the bridge in a buggy, stopped in front of Rooney & Charlton's meat market, and commenced to personally abuse Ald. Rooney. The young man's tongue got away with his good sense, and he "pitched into" the Alderman, but "Dick" was too much for him. Bystanders seperated the beligerants, and quiet was soon restored.

—The Norcross mill has finally reached its new foundation at the foot of Dodge street, and the workmen are now engaged, under the superintendence of Mr. D. C. Ward, in righting the building on the piling. The next in order will be the laying of the shaft from the old wheel pit to the mill. We understand that in the meantime the mill and machinery will be thoroughly overhauled, when it will be ready for business. The removal of this mill makes a marked improvement in that locality, and the people will now anxiously wait to see what the new building to be erected on the old mill site will develop into; many are sure that it will be an opera house, but Captain Norcross has not fully determined.

—The social party held in the upper story of the Norcross block last evening was well attended, and proved to be as predicted, a most brilliant assemblage of young people. The entire upper story of the large building was illuminated and occupied by the party. The roller skating rink was opened for skaters until ten o'clock, the Bower City band, and Smith & Corliss' orchestra furnishing music for the audience. At ten o'clock the dance commenced, music by Smith & Corliss orchestra, and was continued until one o'clock. Refreshments were served by George Shurtleff, and everything was well planned, harmonously executed, and all were well pleased with the evening's enjoyment.

—Mr. Charles Swan, formerly in the employ of Mr. Wm. M. Eldredge, at the Empire Drug Store, but now in business for himself in Fremont, Nebraska, is in the city. It is gently whispered among young people that Charley will—we'll not give it away yet.

—O. H. Fethers, Esq., past grand chancellor of the grand lodge of Knights of Pythias, returned from Madison this morning, where he attended the meeting of that body and over which he presided. On the 31st of December, 1883, there were in Wisconsin, 2,140 knights, 133 lodges. There had been an increase of two lodges since the last meeting of the grand lodge, which was at Janesville, in February, 1883, and that the membership increased during the year 1883 to the extent of 471.

MEMORIAL PROCEEDINGS.

The Address of the Hon. B. B. Eldredge Before the Supreme Court, on the Death of Judge H. S. Conger.

The Supreme Court met at Madson on Thursday morning, when several memorial resolutions and addresses were presented. Mr. B. B. Eldredge, of this city, presented those relating to the late Judge H. S. Conger, and in presenting them said:

"May it please the court: On the 24th day of October, A. D. 1882, at a meeting of the Rock County Bar Association, called and held to take action in relation to the then recent death of Harman S. Conger, late judge of the 12th judicial circuit court of the state of Wisconsin, a committee consisting of John R. Bennett, S. J. Todd and B. B. Eldredge was appointed to prepare and report appropriate resolutions. And a further committee consisting of I. C. Sloan, S. J. Todd and B. B. Eldredge was appointed to prepare and report a memorial address.

"On the 2nd day of January, A. D., 1883, at the coming in of the circuit court for Rock county, such resolutions and memorial address were presented by said committees respectively, and request made that the same be made matter of record in said court; which request was granted by His Honor, Judge Bennett in an earnest and feeling tribute to the distinguished deceased brother.

"And on the 8th day of May A. D. 1884 at a meeting of the Rock County Bar Association called for the purpose, a committee consisting of B. B. Eldredge S. J. Todd and B. Dunwiddie was appointed to request this court to make these matters a subject of record therein."

[The resolutions of sympathy by the bar of Rock county, the memorial address by the Hon. I. C. Sloan, and the response of Judge John R. Bennett, were then read by Mr. Eldredge, after which he addressed the supreme court as follows:]

"In the earlier ages of our race, the friends and relatives of the departed in death, and those who had shared with him the dangers of the chase, the arena, or of savage warfare, brought to his place of rest in death, the weapons of attack and defense which in life he most valued and trusted. In later times the dear friends and stricken relatives, as mementoes of their friendship and love, have placed at the grave the fairest and most beautiful flowers; which wither, fade and dry, and the dead are soon forgotten.

"In imitation of this later beautiful earnest of respect, affection and love, but that the flowers which we bring may neither wither, fade nor dry, and the dead be not forgotten, I move this court that these resolutions of sympathy, memorial address and response, together with such words as may be added by this supreme bench, be made matter of record in this court, of which our deceased brother was an honored member, as an enduring token of our appreciation of his bearing, integrity and manhood, evidence of the civilization and refinement of the age in which he lived, and a shining goal to be reached only by the earnest in the race of minds of those who may succeed us for ages to come.

"By permission of Your Honor I will place these tributes to our distinguished deceased brother in the keeping of this court."

To Mr. Eldredge's beautiful address—so appropriate, touching and scholarly—Associate Justice Lyon feelingly responded:

A Remarkable Escape.

Mrs. Mary A. Dailey, of Tunkhannock, Pa., was afflicted for six years with Asthma and Bronchitis, during which time the best physician could give no relief. Her life was despaired of, until in last October she procured a bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery, when immediate relief was felt, and by continuing its use for a short time she was completely cured, gaining in flesh 50 pounds in a few months.

Free trial bottles of this certain cure of all throat and lung diseases at F. Sherer & Co.'s drug store. Large bottles $1.00.

A New Telegraph Company.

The Bankers' and Merchants' telegraph company, with headquarters in New York city, is now engaged in constructing new lines in the west. The company is operated, we understand, in connection with the Baltimore and Ohio railroad, and will be entirely independent of the Western Union and other telegraph companies. The Bankers' and Merchants' company, we understand is now engaged in the construction of a line from Milwaukee to Janesville, and that the line is completed to Whitewater. It is said that about three miles of wire is put up each day, and that Janesville will be reached in another week. The line will then go to Madison, Eau Claire and St. Paul. At the next session of our common council the Bankers' and Merchants' company will ask permission to construct its lines in this city, and an ordinance has already been prepared granting permission, with all the necessary reservations on the part of the city. The construction of this new line of wire communication with the east will be an incalculable benefit to the business men and public generally throughout the great west, and will no doubt result in breaking down the monopoly of the Western Union company, thereby reducing to a considerable degree the tariff on telegraph messages. The new company is said to have an abundance of capital to enter the field in competition with the other giant corperations, and it is also said that the organization of the company is such that it will not soon fall into the hands of Jay Gould and company.

The Whitewater Register of yesterday mentions the completion of the line to that place as follows: "The construction of a new telegraph line reached town the first of the week. The force left Milwaukee about a month ago and have the poles set and ready for the wire to this place. We learned from Mr. Grable, the overseer of the work, the following facts in regard to the company and their line: The company is called the 'Merchants' & Bankers' Telegraph Company,' and has its headquarters at New York city. The line now under contract is to extend from New York to St. Paul. Other lines will soon be constructed west, ultimately reaching San Francisco. Chicago is the starting point and from there the line is being built east and north. It follows the highways and only touches at cities and large towns, where sufficient business is guaranteed. Between Madison and Milwaukee there will be offices only at Waukesha, Whitewater, Janesville and Stoughton or Edgerton. The company will receive commercial business only, and will do nothing in connection with the railroads. There will be at present four wires between Chicago and Milwaukee, three between Milwaukee and Madison, and two between Madison and St. Paul. According to the conditions of the contract the entire line is to be complete by August 1. The force on this section consists of twenty men. They make on an average, two miles a day. It is not known yet where the office at this place will be located."

First Regiment Items.

The Custer Rifles were inspected on Thursday evening of last week. The Whitewater Register gives the company this handsome compliment:

"There was a large crowd of well pleased lookers-on at the Custer Rifle inspection last Thursday night. The boys appeared their best and went through the manual of arms and various marching movements under command of Captain Caldwell and Lieutenants Walton and Keston, in a manner to evoke General Chapman's heartiest commendation. Fifty-one members passed the inspection, which secures for the company the round sum of $555, for the ensuing year. There is good reason to suppose that the Custers will occupy as high rank, to say the least, in the forthcoming report as any company in the state. In fact it would be hard to find a company better manned and officered than the Custers."

Adjutant General Chapman was in Beloit on Wednesday evening and inspected the Beloit City Guards. The Free Press notices the event thus:

"The Beloit City Guards were inspected last evening by Adjutant General Chapman. There were 46 members out, a number of whom were new men, and the company did not therefore, drill as well as usual, but they "passed muster" and made a very good showing. The city band tendered their services and rendered splendid music. After the inspection some of the members of the company and their friends enjoyed a hop in the armory.

As a whole the company is in a prosperous condition, the drills are well attended and a good feeling prevails among the members."

The Janesville Guards will pass under the scrutinizing eye of the popular Adjutant General of the state this evening, at their armory.

The Madison Journal of last evening, publishes the following:

"At a meeting of the Governor's Guard last evening, it was decided to accept the invitation extended by the Monroe company to participate in memorial day exercises to be held in that place. Forty-two members expressed their intention of going. The company will depart on the morning train on the 30th inst., over the Northwestern road, and expects to meet several other military organizations at Hanover Junction with which they will proceed on to Monroe. Seven companies are expected to be present, and when there is such a large gathering of National guardsmen, an exceedingly pleasant time will surely be the result. Upon returning to this city, the Governor's Guard will march directly to their new armory, soon to be vacated by the Lake City Guard, of which they will take formal possession. The intention of the company is to fit up their armory very nicely, have all the stairs removed and the walls recalcimined, and place it in better condition than it has ever been in before. No liquor will be allowed in it at any time, and it will always be in readiness for parties of all kinds."

GOING TO MONROE.

A special train will leave Racine on the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul railroad on Friday, May 30th, at 6 o'clock in the morning, with the two military companies of Racine on board. This train will arrive at Delavan, taking on the Delavan Guards at eight, and arrive in Beloit at 9:15 where they will be joined by the Beloit City Guards. The train will reach Janesville at 10 o'clock, and await the arrival of the special train from Whitewater with the Custer Rifles. The Bower City Rifles and Janesville Guards, with the Custer Rifles, will then join the Racine, Delavan and Beloit companies on the special train for Monroe, leaving here at ten o'clock; at Hanover Junction they will be joined by Governor's Guards, of Madison, and then proceed to Monroe, where they will be joined by the Monroe Guards, making nine companies of the First Regiment, W. N. G., being the first time the whole regiment has assembled together. Colonel W. B. Britton will be in command, and the regiment will take part in the ceremonies of Memorial Day in that city. We understand that the members of the Grand Army post, Monroe Guards, and the good people of Monroe have made all necessary arrangments for the entertainment of the regiment on this occasion. Returning the regiment will leave Monroe at 7:30 p. m. reaching Janesville at 8:45, Beloit 9:30; Delavan at 10:45 and Racine at 1:00 a. m. next morning.

Attention Citizens.

There will be a meeting of all citizens interested in the exercises of Memorial Day at the Grand Army Post assembly room on Friday evening, at 7:30 o'clock, to make arrangements for the services of that day. It is hoped that there will be a full and prompt attendance. Ladies are especially requested to be present.

The proof of the pudding is in the eating, so the merit of a medicine is brought out when applied in a peculiarly stubborn case of disease. A. S. Walker, of Central avenue, Pittsburgh, writes concerning a lady friend in McKeesport, Pa., who for over a year had suffered from a most violent type of rheumatism. She could hardly lift hand or foot, and a greater part of the time she was laid up. Her sufferings were intense, and she was given up by the doctors. Two weeks' use of Athlophoros wrought a complete change in her condition, and she is now greatly improved.

Prentice & Evenson, opposite postoffice sell Athlophoros.

THE COURTS.

THE CIRCUIT COURT.

In the circuit court, the case of Joseph Riley against Barthomlomew Hardwick and others, was given to the jury at ten o'clock this morning. This is the town of Porter ditch case, mentioned in yesterday's Gazette. The jury brought in a verdict of twenty-five dollars for the plaintiff at two o'clock this afternoon.

The court is now occupied with the case of Palmer against Burdick, which was commenced some days ago and postponed on account of the illness of J. P. Towne, Esq., one of the counsel.

MUNICIPAL COURT.

A penalty of seven dollars and costs was imposed on James Milford this afternoon, in the municipal court, for using improper language on the streets.

It is an unequaled modern production.—Exchange. Trial bottles free of Stearns & Baker.

The Cold Wave.

The cold wave which struck this city at about nine o'clock last evening and continued through the night, caused the thermometer to register down to 30 degrees above zero, three degrees below the freezing point. Ice formed in many places in the city, and to-day indications of a frost are noticed, by the withered leaves of house plants which were out of doors, and also the leaves of tender shrubbery, grape vines, etc. People who appear to be well posted, do not apprehend any damage to fruit, or tobacco plants, as the sun did not come out strong enough this morning to harm the frost bitten foliage. The cold wave must have extended over a wide breadth of country, and it is too soon yet to predict as to the damage, if any, but we sincerely hope we have escaped.

Reports from the towns of Janesville and Fulton, state that a severe frost visited those towns last night, but as yet no damage to the tobacco plants is noticed. Some think the frost damaged small fruit, but just how much the reports do not say.

Young men, middle aged men and all men who suffer from early indiscretions will find Allen's Brain Food the most powerful invigorant ever introduced; once restored from it there is no relapse. Try it; it never fails. $1; 6 for $5. At druggists, or by mail from J. H. Allen, 315 First avenue, New York city.

The Weather.

At seven o'clock this morning the thermometer indicated 40 degrees above zero. Clear with east wind. At one o'clock p. m. the register was 59 degrees above zero. Cloudy with south wind. For the corresponding hours one year ago, the register was 46 and 72 degrees above zero.

H. H. BLANCHARD, Real Estate Broker.

I am no land shark. I use no stool pigeons, or devices to deceive people into buying what they dont want.

I sell property on its merits.

I deal on the square and guarantee everything to be as represented.

If you want to buy or rent a cheap or expensive farm, large or small, a cheap or expensive house and lot, or business block, or want anything in the real estate line, I can supply your wants. Call on me and be convinced.

Safe rules to follow in buying real estate.

If when you are in the agents office talking of buying property, a fellow comes in and wants it, don't buy.

If when you are going with an agent to see property, you meet a fellow who wants that property, don't buy.

If you do you will find out to late that the fellow who wants to buy is the agent's stool pigeon, and that he and the agent have put up a job on you. In all cases you may be sure if the agent has a buyer, he will not fool away any time with you.

Before you buy real estate, convince yourself that you know what you are buying.
